

Insight Into ISO 44001 - The Next Evolution of Collaborative Working

Introduction

With the publication of ISO 44001 the world's first international standard for collaborative Business Relationship management, in March 2017. This one day workshop has been created to provide guidance for organisations seeking to embrace the standard or currently transitioning from BS 11000.

The programme draws on the principles for collaborative working and how these have been embedded in the international standard. It will highlight how the development of ISO 44001 has been aligned to the International high level structure for management standards enabling organisations to better integrate the features of a collaborative arrangements within existing operating models such as ISO 9001.

The ICW who had a major role in the development of ISO 44001 will be able to share the significant changes from the original British standard. They will highlight those additional requirements which have originated from their experiences of implementing BS 11000 and the issues which came from the international working group.
